Introduction

A number of years ago I visited the Hudson Cemetery where my husband's folks are buried. I have made many trips since. I became interested in the identity of the people buried there over a period of one hundred and twenty years. My research began when I was asked to help get a historical marker for the cemetery. I have been researching the history of these people ever since.

When my spouse and I surveyed the stones in the cemetery we found about five hundred. I have five hundred and seventy five names as of today. Many are without stones. Giving these people identity has been a joy for me.

In the earlier years the residents of this community were related to each other. Therefore, those interred in the cemetery are mostly family. It has been a challenge to link these families together.

John Dickson Hudson and his wife Winney Traylor Hudson buried their precious twins on the highest part of their farm. That was the beginning of the cemetery. Mr. Hudson owned business property in the newly created city of Kennedale. Through his acquaintances and business associates many of the Kennedale people chose to bury their kin in the new cemetery.

In the early 1900's the cemetery was maintained in the fashion of a flower garden. A large tabernacle was built for funerals. Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson Hudson recorded a deed in the county court house donating three acres for his family and the community to use as a cemetery. He chose five trustees to oversee the cemetery. They were J.H. Caffee, L.G. Williams, J.N. McCarty, MGD Goza and R.P. Tankersley.

For several years the cemetery fell into disarray as most country cemeteries of that time. They did not have the convenience of the modern lawn mowers as we do today. They even resorted to plowing the cemetery to get rid of the overgrowth. Several organizations made efforts to upkeep the cemetery. We now have a cemetery association keeping the cemetery maintained. Gate signs, with the cemetery's name, have just recently been installed. The Gilley family has been in charge of the cemetery for years. They have a love and respect for the cemetery and we owe them many thanks for the maintenance of the cemetery.

I welcome any additions or corrections to this publication. Reading old inscriptions is nearly impossible and transferring the names and dates several times lead to many errors.

I have compiled these histories to honor the pioneers of this community and keep their memories alive. May it benefit you as much as I have enjoyed preparing it.

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank Peggy Thompson and her mother Dana Hudson Garrison, descendants of the Hudson family. They are true genealogists who have compiled histories of their families. They have spent many hours helping me with dates, history and names.

By accident I met Mr. H. Oscar Lochridge. He is a member of the Tarrant County Historical Commission and his contribution to the preservation of history is surveying cemeteries. He has surveyed the Hudson cemetery without any compensation. His work is greatly appreciated.

Many of you have permitted me to ask you questions about your family and you have kindly cooperated with me. I thank you for your time.

Hudson Family

Howell Hudson and Peter B. Hudson were the sons of Peter Hudson, but which Peter Hudson is not known. According to family information, passed by word of mouth, there were four sons of Peter Hudson and Mary Chaney, namely William, James, Peter B. and Howell. Peter B. Hudson was born in South Carolina, ca 1790, and Howell Hudson was born in Eastern Tennessee August 23, 1798. There is no known information about William and James Hudson.

There is a preponderance of information about Howell Hudson and Peter B. Hudson from the time period of the War of 1812 forward. Howell Hudson and Peter B. Hudson were brothers, and they traveled together. Both Howell and Peter B. were in the War of 1812. From muster rolls we know that Howell became a volunteer in June, 1814, at Fayetteville, Tennessee. Later in the fall of 1814 we show that Howell was in the Mississippi Militia, having joined at Huntsville, Madison County, Alabama (Mississippi Territory in 1814). Howell's brother Peter B., also joined the Mississippi Militia in the fall of 1814. These brothers served their country honorably under Andrew Jackson during the War of 1812.

We find both Howell Hudson and Peter B. Hudson in Madison County, Alabama (Mississippi Territory until 1817) during the years between 1815 and 1820. We pick up the trail of Howell Hudson in 1823 in McMinn County, Tennessee, where he served on a jury in September of that year. Howell Hudson is found on 1830 Census in McNairy County, Tennessee, with a wife 30-40. We believe Peter B. stayed in McMinn County or in the surrounding area until March of 1835. Howell was in Purdy, McNairy County, Tennessee In 1832. By this time Howell had married Jeanette Hardin and had two sons and one daughter.

The Choctaw Cession of 1830 and the Chickasaw Cession of 1832 opened up what was to become Yalobusha County and Pontotoc County of Mississippi. Land, land, land!!!! Here came Howell Hudson and his family in October 1834 to claim land. In March 1835 here came Peter B. Hudson and family to Yalobusha County, Mississippi. So the brothers were together again! The brothers bought and sold land in Yalobusha and Pontotoc Counties of Mississippi until they got the new frontier fever again, heading west, GONE TO TEXAS.

The Hudson brothers were among the first settlers in Shelby County, Texas, one of the original counties of Texas, formed from an old Mexican Municipality. Both Howell and Peter B. received their Class 2 Unconditional Headright, entitling each to 1280 acres of land in the Republic of Texas. By getting 1280 acres of land it meant they were married men. Shelby County during the Republic days was an area of great unrest. Land seekers were coming into the county every day, and soon great land squabbles broke out with charges of swindling. It wasn't long until there were two factions in the county, and the local war of the Regulators and Moderators broke out. Howell Hudson and Peter Hudson fought side by side as Regulators, fighting for what they thought to be right. Howell was wounded in the battle at Hilliard's place and died later. It is said that Howell Hudson wished to be buried on his own place, and his wish was granted by his fellow Regulators. Where Howell Hudson rests is Jackson Cemetery, about three miles from Joaquin, Texas in beautiful wooded East Texas.

Howell Hudson and Jeanette Hardin Hudson had several children: James H. Hudson, Mary Catherine Hudson, William K. Hudson, John Dickson Hudson, Susan Jane Hudson and Georgia Ann Hudson. John Dickson married Winney Stokes Traylor in 1861. The John Dickson Hudsons had a farm close to the new town of Kennedale, Texas. When their twin girls died in 1874, John Dickson Hudson set aside land for a cemetery where the twins were buried. The cemetery became the cemetery for John Dickson Hudson's neighbors and friends as well as burial plots for Hudsons and Hudson kin. Thanks to the generosity of John D. Hudson and Winney Hudson Kennedale has the beautiful Hudson Cemetery.

WILSON STORY

In 1814, J. T. (Jim) Wilson was born near St. Louis, Missouri. His mother died when he was a small boy. He ran away from home at the age of 13 years. He lived with a friendly tribe of Indians for a while and learned many of their crafts and customs. His first marriage was a failure. He had one son, Taylor Wilson. His second marriage lasted two years. When his little daughter, Sarah, was one year old, his wife died.

He served through the Civil War on the Rebel side. With war over, he went to California seeking gold, but was unlucky. He then came to Kennedale, Texas, Tarrant County, Texas. He met and married Margret Smith, a widow, whose husband, Allen Smith, had been killed in the war. There were four Smith children, three sons and a daughter: S.S. Smith, Hiram Smith, Leroy Smith, and Sina Smith, the daughter. To Jim's and Margret's union seven children were born: Nancy Jane, Joe E., James Weaver, Melinda, Dora Missouri, Mary Ann and Elizabeth.

Jim and Margret worked very hard and acquired three hundred acres of land. At that time Fort Worth was just a Fort. Margret had a one horse wagon. Once a week, she gathered up such vegetables and fruits as were in season and along with butter, milk and eggs they took them to the Fort and sold them.

Late one evening, on her way home, she saw a man laying by the roadside very sick. She put him on the back of the wagon and brought him home. She nursed him back to health and then he went on this way wherever he had started.

Doctors were very scarce at the time, so Aunt Margret, as she was called, filled in when they could not get a doctor. She bought drugs in bulk and made her own pills. Also, she knew what herb, barks and roots had medical value.

Her son, Jim, had what was called White Swelling in his right leg. He was seriously ill. She called in the only doctor in the community, A. Dr. Hall. When he looked at the patient, he told her he would call another doctor and they held a consultation. He told Margret they had decided to take the leg off at the knee.

Margret told him if that was all they could do, to just go on home and she would treat him. She went out and gathered a bunch of rag weeds, cut them up very fine, then cooked them until they were pliable. She then thickened the mixture with cornmeal and made poultices. Finally the bone burst. She continued the poultice treatment until it drew slivers of bone out, one at a time. He finally recovered, but always walked with a limp.

She treated typhoid fever, pneumonia, and numerous other sicknesses. One neighbor who lived several miles away was taken down with was called Slow Fever. They came after Aunt Margret. She carried her little satchel of medicine and fixed him some medicine and left directions for taking it. A few days later his brother came after Aunt Margret. He said Jim was awful sick. She got on her little black pony and went with him. When she arrived, she asked if he had taken the medicine. He said "No, It tasted bad." She gave him a slap on the face, told him she would be back in a day or two and if he had not taken the medicine, he would get worse treatment the next time. He took the medicine and finally recovered. She acted as a midwife for the whole community.

At that time there was not much law and cattle and horse thieves were numerous. The citizens formed a committee and took care of thieves themselves, when they could catch them. The first one they caught they hanged on Mingus Mount, one mile north of Kennedale. At another time, they gathered and stationed the men on the road they thought the thief would take. All were stationed at their post except one young man who was late. When they heard a horse coming very fast, they thought it was the thief. When he passed, the first man called out "Whose There?" The young fellow was afraid. They thought it was the thief so he did not answer. They shot him off his horse. When they recovered the body, they saw it was the young man who was late for the gathering and to this day, no grass grows where his blood was spilled.

S. S. and Leroy Smith operated a general merchandise store at Kennedale for many years. The Wilson children lived on land they had inherited. On March 16, 1890, Joe married Mary Cook. Their first son, Albert, was born July 6, 1892. Ethel was born January 11, 1894. John was born March 27, 1896. Maud was born March 2, 1898. Mary was born June 23, 1900. Leona was born September 6, 1902. Snyder was born September 20, 1904. Ora was born August 2, 1907. Verna was born March 21, 1909. Ida was born June 13, 1911.

Both Joe and Mary liked to travel. In 1896, they loaded their three oldest children into a covered wagon and made a trip to what is now called Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, to see relatives. Of course, at that time there were no bridges across the Red River on the border of Oklahoma and Texas. The team of mules had never seen a ferry boat. It looked like the Wilson family would be drowned before they got the team and wagon on the ferry boat, but they survived to make other trips.

One trip was to deep East Texas. It was a place full of malaria. Shortly after arriving the children came down with chills and fever, so the trip was cut short.

They made several trips to Wichita Falls, Texas to visit Mary's father and family. This trip took four days steady travel. There were no highways or graded roads. The meals were cooked over camp fires. The bread was baked in a dutch oven. Frying pans were used for meat and potatoes and anything else they had. Where night found them, they made camp for the night. With the mother and smaller children sleeping in the wagon, Father and the older children under the wagon on a pallet. The mules were tied to the back wagon wheels. In the early morning hours they were awakened by bands of howling wolves. The children were so scared there was no more sleep for them.

Joe bought out some of the heirs until he had one hundred acres of land. He built his home and he and Mary lived there until their deaths. Joe passed away January 26, 1934. Mary passed away November 1, 1939.

I, Ethel Wilson, was married to Luther Garrett September 24, 1911. To our union was born seven children: Gladys - July 17, 1912, Vera - June 18, 1914, Inda - April 3, 1916, Vivian - November 21, 1917 -lived only two weeks, Darwin - November 26, 1918, Loyd - April 25, 1921, Fred - July 17, 1923 - lived only ten days.

I am now age 78. My husband, Luther Garrett, is age 87. We have twelve living grandchildren, twenty three great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren, this year of 1972.

RECOLLECTIONS

In memory of my mother, Mary Cook Wilson, who taught us honor, honesty and obedience to God.

Mary Cook Wilson was born March 13th, 1874, near Old Aurora in Wise County, Texas. Her mother passed away when she was five years old. She had a brother named Robert, who was two years younger than she, and a sister named Minerva, who died in infancy. Her father's name was John Cook. Her mother's maiden name was Mattie Lewis.

In 1910, our family was making a trip to Wichita Falls and we stopped at Aurora to inquire about my mother's folks, the Lewis family. We found Frank Lewis, who was one of her uncles, living in a crude camp out in his pasture among his cattle. He was a very eccentric old fellow. I remember hearing him say there were three things he could not abide. They were; a setting hen, a rocking chair and a pacing horse. He had three children; Clem, Doug and Luella. I do not know if any of them are still living.

After my grandmother Cook died, Grandfather married a widow whose name was Page. She had several children and they all lived in the brakes of the Brazos River near Stephenville. Mother often told us of the beautiful blue flowers that grew there. They were known as Buffalo Clover, but are now known as Bluebonnets, the Texas state flower.

Their drinking water was carried from a spring on the Brazos River. One of the children's chores was to carry water from the spring each morning, before they started for school. One morning about sunup as Mother was on her way to the spring for water, she glanced to one side and there lay a panther on the river bank watching her. She was very frightened, but went very quietly and filled her bucket at the spring. She then walked very quietly past the panther until out of sight, then ran all the way home.

Another time she was on her way home with a bucket of water about daybreak. She was barefooted and felt something sting her ankle. She looked down and saw a snake crawling off through the grass. Her father said it was a ground rattler. She lay for many days with her foot badly swollen, but finally recovered.

When Mother was fifteen years old she went to live with an aunt in San Antonio. After a short while there, she was taken down seriously sick and lay many weeks with curvature of the spine. Having the services of a good doctor, she recovered.

When Mother was seventeen, the family moved to Tarrant County, where she met and married Joe Wilson, March 16th, 1890. To that union were born ten children. They were: Albert-born July 6th, 1892, Ethyl-born January 11th, 1894, John- born March 27th, 1896, Maud-born March 2nd, 1898, Mary-born June 23rd, 1900, Leona-born September 6th, 1902, Snyder-born September 20th, 1904, Ora-born August 2nd, 1907, Verna-born March 21st, 1909 and Ida-born June 13th, 1911.

Ethyl married Luther Garrett September 24, 1911, Albert married Carrie Berry May 17th, 1914, Maud married Henry Goynes July 10th 1917, John married Jettie Williams September 10th, 1917, Mary married Roy Crane in June, 1918, Leona married Ray Bowling December 24th, 1924, Snyder married Berta Williams July 9th, 1928, Ora married Earl Knight January 24th, 1924, Verna married Clarence Crawford November 23rd, 1928, Ida married Glen Minshaew December 30th, 1930, Joe Wilson passed away February 20th 1934, Mary Wilson passed away November 1st, 1938.

ELDER W. M. WISE

W. M. Wise was born in Randolph County, Illinois, May 1, 1824. He had lived many years in Texas, and spent some years in Arkansas, and in Missouri. He died at his last home in this world, near Kennedale, Texas, on October 5, 1910. He was living with his youngest daughter's family at the time of his death. Many of the Guide readers will remember his name in other papers, although he never appeared in our columns, being most too old to write when we began the work. He has written some good books and tracts, and some of these are late productions. He was at one time considered one of the ablest writers in the State.

Brother Wise was the first Christian preacher I ever saw, and the first one I ever heard preach. I was seven years old when I first saw him, but I shall never forget, even just how he looked that day. The first sermon I heard him preach was on "The Change of Heart." It was on a Lord's day morning. My father met him on the way to church and asked him to use that subject for his discourse, and he did so cheerfully.

As a preacher, he was one in a class. He was considered hard on sectarianism, and yet he was one of the most gently in the pulpit, and everywhere else, ever seen among men. He was an eminently practical man, and this could be seen in his religion as well as elsewhere. He was not a crank in any sense. He was entirely clear of all hobbies, for he loved the cause of Christ too dearly to allow himself to become "one-sided" on anything. He had no patience with men who were dividers of churches, whether they brought things into the worship unauthorized by the Word of the Lord, or whether they were fictionists contending about questions of no profit. He loved his brethren with a devotion seldom surpassed, and was friend and counselor of all young gospel preachers. Brother Wise was not slothful in business, and having splendid judgment, he was generally able to do and have all that he needed, and then have means to spare liberally to the cause of Christ. In fact his help in that line came first with him always. He helped many preachers financially, as well as otherwise. He liked to see his preaching brethren look neat, and above all he wanted a preacher to be clean and tidy. He was the same way about a meeting house; he wanted everything kept in order around a place of worship.

Brother Wise believed that every man should be all the help to his fellowmen possible, and so when his neighbors needed medical aid, when doctors were few in his neighborhood, he went many times and years, at the call of sickness and distress, and relieved suffering when and where he could. He did not endorse hypocrisy in anything, and so to be able to trust people intelligently, he informed himself, purchasing such books as would be of use to him in his practice, which he did free, or for just what his neighbors were willing to pay. He simply tried to do what he could, but when the doctor came, Brother Wise would modestly stand aside. He was never the man to pretend where and when he felt himself surpassed. He was very humble as a preacher. While he delighted to preach the gospel himself, he enjoyed hearing others preach it as much as anyone in the congregation. He was not afraid to tell a young preacher that he thought he did well, after hearing a sermon, neither did he stand back on telling him where he could have improved his discourse. Brother Wise had a very fine library, some of the best books, and books of great value, and as Brother Wise once remarked to me, he had the most of what such books contained in his head.

One pleasing trait in the great man's character was his fondness for children. I have never known any man, young or old, who seemed to love little children better than he. He delighted to have some little present of some kind at hand, always, for children that came to his home. Another special and predominating element in his nature was his exalted opinion of woman. He felt that a woman occupied the place where Jehovah placed her; next to the angels, and his idea always was a practical application of the truth. The virtue of women was a very sacred thing with him, and never in word or deed was he guilty of any intimation that would lower her correct standard.

I have said that Brother Wise was a practical man, a level headed man. His judgment was good upon any proposition that might arise in a community, and his advice was sought for many times, where there was a need for wise counsel. He raised five boys, and all of them have families of their own, and are above the average for executive ability, for much of which they will give their father credit today; in fact, they never hesitated to go to him for advice in any matter that might concern them, and they felt that to do as he said would be perhaps the wisest course for them, and as a religious teacher, those sons could put no man above their father. His daughters also follow his fatherly advice. Sister Wise, who was as faithful a companion as a man was ever blest with, perhaps, preceded him across the river a few years, and as long as he was able, living near the grave, he made it his daily business to visit the resting place of the woman who he loved with his whole heart. I have frequently remarked that Sister Wise tenderly cared for her husband many years, expecting him to die most any time, for he was never very strong physically, and after all she beat him home.

The last time I visited him before his death, he was sick then, and never expected to recover. When I walked into his room, and up to the old chair in which he was accustomed to sit, he took me in his arms and kissed me freely and said "God bless my boy; he is doing more work than I ever could, and still looks so well over it all." I said; "I could do more, Brother Wise, and still be strong, I guess." He replied, "Yes, I might have done more too, if I had thought so." Upon the occasion of the visit with him he requested me to speak at his grave and to write his obituary if he went away. I sacredly promised to write as I do now, although I felt then as I do now, that I should be unworthy of the honor conferred upon me by the request.

AT THE HOME OF THE FUNERAL

A large crowd assembled for the funeral. All the neighborhood turned out. People from neighboring towns and communities, and some from cities came. Brother Foy E. Wallace was in my office when I received the telegram bringing the information, and that I would be expected to attend, and although he was ready to depart for his home in Sherman, he said, "I ought to attend that old brother's funeral, and I shall do so." There were six gospel preachers present, and each one of them made a talk full of humbleness of mind, and much meekness, in speaking of an old soldier. The preachers also served as pallbearers for the occasion. The home was only a few steps from the cemetery, and so we walked and carried the old worn out body to its last resting place.

The preachers who had this honor were Early Arceneaux, C. E. Wooldrige, Foy E. Wallace, T. W. Phillips, R. C. Brummett, and this scribe. Brother Wooldridge, his late and special friend to the family, directed the funeral service, which was touchingly and impressively done.

Brother Wise left several children, and a number of grandchildren, all of whom loved him devotedly.

Many were the expressions of sorrow that he had gone, among those who lingered at the grave. No one expressed any doubt as to where he was after he left the body, for all believed that he was as surely as Paul could say, "Being absent from the body, I am present with the Lord." We all knew that while Brother Wise was absent from the body, he was present with the Lord. The life and death of such a man serves as a stimulus for us all.

Andrews Story

James Oscar Andrews was born January 2, 1842, in what was then Alexander County, North Carolina, and died at his home near Kennedale, October 10, 1906. Between these two dates the Recording Angel has written the events of the life of this eminently good man, some of which we desire to mention here.

When but a lad of eight summers, with his family, he moved from his native State to Tennessee, and there remained until he was in quite mature life. It was from this place that he enlisted in Company A, First Tennessee Regiment, soon after the opening of that awfully cruel Civil War. That he made a good soldier is strongly evidenced by the fact that the close of the war found him still in the service faithfully discharging his duty. Many of his comrades fell, but not he. Surely God had a work for him to perform. There were other and higher battles to be found.

And while Brother Andrews made a good soldier for his country, he made a better one for the cross of Jesus Christ. While yet a young man he was converted and joined the Old School Presbyterian Church, in which he remained until he came to Texas in 1882. Upon finding that his own Church was not represented in the neighborhood where he settle, he joined the Methodist Church. He remained in it a consistent member until death claimed him for the Church triumphant. Kennedale Methodism has sustained an irreparable loss in the death of this good man.

Brother Andrews was twice married. First to Miss Lou M. Wolaver on June 25, 1871. Two children, J. R. and W. E. Andrews, were born to this union. Sometime later the happy circle of this family was broken and the cold hand of death pressed the brow of this mother and companion August 4, 1876. On March 20, 1879, a second marriage was consummated with Miss Mary J. Loftin, and five children were born--Ernest L., Miss Addie, Oscar, Mrs. Tom Hiatt (nee Sadie Andrews) and Tom Andrews.

Providentially, all the children and the last wife live to carry out the unfinished plans of this father and husband. For about two years Brother Andrews suffered from paralysis. The first attack was light, but it grew steadily worse, inviting other complications, until the last few weeks of his life were filled with intense suffering. And yet, amid it all, he exhibited the most beautiful spirit of resignation. He said to this writer only a few days before the end come, "This disease is rapidly wearing me out, but it is all right."

He is sadly missed from our community and our Church, but doubtless most of all he is missed from the home he made and loved. Weeping loved ones, his God is your God: his present home is your future home. In due time you will be called one by one to the place whither father has gone. There will be no parting there. That you may each be ready and willing as he was to go, is the earnest prayer of your pastor.

WESSLEY T. MURPHY

Wessley T. Murphy, one of the enterprising and prosperous farmers of Tarrant county, Texas, has been identified with this state since before the war. As one of the representative citizens of the county, he is entitled to more than a passing mention in this work.

Mr. Murphy was born in Howard County, Missouri, August 24, 1832; was reared on a farm, and when he grew up learned the trade of carpenter and cabinetmaker. It was in 1855 that he came to Texas. The following year he made a trip back to Missouri and on to Kansas, being in Kansas during the border ruffianism, and in 1859 returned to Texas. In 1860 he again went to Missouri, and it was not until after the war was over that he came back to this state.

When the civil war broke out Mr. Murphy joined General Price's army and was with him in all the prominent engagements west of the Mississippi River. At the time General Price crossed the river Mr. Murphy was sick and was left behind. After his recovery he joined the Nineteenth Texas Cavalry, Parson's Brigade, and from that time until the close of the war his services were in Arkansas and Louisiana. During his army life he saw much hard fighting. At Lexington, Missouri, he was wounded in the breast by a piece of shell, but he was soon afterward able for duty again, and in all his service he was never captured.

Soon after the close of the war Mr. Murphy married and settled in Tarrant county, Texas his location here being on school land, then all in its wild state. After making some improvements on his property, and residing here for a time, he sold out and went back to Missouri again. He, however, remained in Missouri only a short time, and upon his return to Texas he rented land, which he cultivated two years. In 1869 he bought 320 acres where he now lives. To this he has added by subsequent purchase until now he has 420 acres, about 170 of which are under cultivation. He rents his land, and has it cultivated chiefly to cotton and corn. He also raises large quantities of sorghum. Since 1882 he has owned and operated a gin, doing both his own and public work. At an early day he raised large quantities of cattle and hogs.

Mr. Murphy was the third born of a family of five children, his parents being Jesse W. and Mary (Hines) Murphy, natives of Kentucky. Jesse W. Murphy went to Missouri at an early day and was married in that state, Mrs. Murphy having gone to Missouri before his arrival there. Her father, John Hines, was one of the earliest pioneers of that state, going there at a time when it was frequently necessary to seek the forts as a place of safety and protection from the Indians. The father of our subject served as Sheriff of Howard county, and in Missouri spent the rest of his life and died, the date of his death being 1858. His children are as follows: John W., who came to Texas in 1855, died in 1890; F. M. died in Missouri in 1856; W. T., the subject of this article; W. B. is a resident of Parker county, Texas; and Walter is a resident near Sedalia, Missouri. Mr. Murphy was married September 13, 1865, to Miss Maria J. Traylor, who was born May 5, 1835, daughter of W. Traylor, who went with his family from Indiana to Arkansas, his farm being on the Arkansas and Missouri state line, his dwelling and one stable being in Arkansas and his mill and another stable being in Missouri. He subsequently moved over into Missouri about a mile and from that location he came with his family to Texas in 1854. They settled in this county, where her father spent the rest of his life on a farm, and where he died, in 1864. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy have three children, C. L., Ida and Nola. The son is engaged in farming in this county.

While he believes that democracy is the true principle with which to govern America, Mr. Murphy, like many of the Democratic Party, is opposed to President Cleveland's administration.

MRS. NOLA MURPHY EDGEMON

All of Mrs. Edgemon's nearly three score and ten years have been spent in Tarrant County, in this community and nearby. Born August 4, 1877, in the old W. T. Murphy home between Mansfield and Kennedale, just north of the highway near Bisbee, she is the only surviving member of her family. Her parents, one sister and one brother are deceased.

Indiana born Maria Traylor, her mother, and Wesley Thomas Murphy of Missouri, her father, both came to Texas before the Civil War. Acquainted before the War, after W. T. Murphy returned from service they were married. They settled in Tarrant County on school land, then all in its natural state. A biographical sketch of W. T. Murphy, as a prominent citizen, is carried in an early Tarrant County history. He was a farmer and gin operator, having great pride in the OK Cotton Gin, an early gin operated on his farm near Bisbee. Mrs. Edgemon's parents are buried in the Hudson Cemetery. (Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Hudson were sisters.)

As a girl Nola Murphy attended Center Point, a little school between Kennedale and Bisbee, where there were only two teachers for all ages of children. Later she went to Polytechnic College in Fort Worth.

"Oh yes," Mrs. Edgemon replied, when asked if she remembered the first time she met her husband to be. "My sister was attending Baylor University. I had been going down to visit her, and as we returned home we got off the train in Kennedale, and it was there I met him." After a courtship of seven or eight years, Nola Murphy and Joe M. Edgemon were married on December 29, 1898 at her parents home.

Joe M. Edgemon, a contractor, was born in Athens, Tennessee, January 19, 1871. He passed away in Mansfield on November 20, 1944, after several years of ill health, the last member of a family of fourteen. A friend of his daughters, who was in the home often as a girl, said of Mr. Edgemon: "He was a wonderful person, and such a hard worker. No matter how tired he was, he was always pleasant and jolly. The whole family was very devoted to each other."

Mrs. Charlie (Ida) Nichols, Mansfield; Mrs. Jim (Dana) Malone, Mansfield; and Mrs. A. W. (Inez) Butler of Midland, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edgemon. There are three grandchildren, Charlie Joe Nichols, who has returned after three years in service and resides in Mansfield with his wife, the former Emma Sue Phillips of Britton; and Dortha and Robert Wade Butler of Midland, Texas.

"I am a stay-at-home body," Mrs. Edgemon said of herself. "My mother was an invalid for nine years and after my marriage we lived with her until her death in 1907. We moved to Mansfield in 1910, living in the corner house just west of Kate Helms."

Her present home, a recently completed apartment with its own kitchen, bath, and sitting-bedroom, apart from Mrs. Nichols' home, reflects Mrs. Edgemon's love and care of her home. She has two lovely old-fashioned pieces that belonged to her mother, a dresser and an old sewing machine, bought to make her baby clothes on. A beautiful crocheted bedspread, and other pieces, bespeak her fondness for crocheting and handwork. "I read my Bible every day," Mrs. Edgemon testified, laying her hand on the Bible placed conveniently on a table by her armchair. "I keep my own house; crochet a lot, and read much. I have always enjoyed working with flowers. We have to get busy and landscape around the new apartment."

Mrs. Edgemon's sons-in-law say she fries the best chicken of anybody, and friends say she has always been a wonderful cook."

In appearance she is a small, dainty, refined woman with gray-blue eyes and waved hair, that contained no gray until after she lost her husband.

"My earliest childhood recollection is of how lovely our orchard was in the spring of each year when it would first start to bloom," Mrs. Edgemon reminisced. "We had a large orchard and the blossoms were exquisite. We raised apples of all kinds. I remember their being gathered and stored in the cellar. People do not store away food now as they used to. I cannot remember," she continued, "when my mother did not do a lot of canning. She canned in glass jars in hot water bath. We always made lots of jellies."

Another girlhood memory was of their Sundays: "We always attended Sunday school and church, and after church a big bunch would come home with us. We never knew how many would be there for dinner," Mrs. Edgemon chuckled. "Everybody would unsaddle their horses, turn them in the lot and feed them. Along the wooden fence would be a string of boys saddles, and then the girls saddles. If it was in the summer time we would usually have a big watermelon cutting, or something of the kind, before going back to the church in the evening."

In those days, our neighbor said, nearly everyone had an organ in their home. Instead of having choir practice at the church as is common now, the people would meet in different homes and practice songs and singing. Mr. Edgemon especially enjoyed singing conventions and they attended those a lot.

Horseback riding was very common when she was a girl. She rode horseback to school in bad weather, but usually walked when the weather was good.

Though early cotton gins were rather scattering, the one at her home was no novelty to her, Mrs. Edgemon commented, "because it was always there." A deep well and windmill supplied the water for the steam power that ran the gin. They also had a big cistern off the end of a long porch. For years Miss Nola kept books at the gin.

WILLIAMS STORY

John Jonathan Williams, son of Leroy Guthrie Williams and Delia (Haight) Williams, came to this community with his parents in the early 1870's. John chose his wife, Rebecca Elizabeth (Brown) Williams, from the home of her parents, Reverend Daniel Bedford Brown and Terah Isabella (Pool) Brown. The Brown family moved to the New Hope and Hudson Cemetery community from North Carolina, Reverend Daniel Bedford Brown and his wife's brother, W. A. Pool, were ordained Baptist ministers. They are credited with starting several Baptist churches in this community.

John Jonathan Williams made a good choice picking Rebecca Elizabeth for a wife. They had a large family of eight boys and two girls. They lived in a home near the Williams' school. All ten of these children eventually enrolled in the school. They came back to the same building on Sunday. The school also served as the New Hope Baptist Church. The church was created ca 1885. Some of the charter members were Leroy and Delia (Haight) Williams, Ansley and Matilda Emma (Goolsby) Williams, Mr. And Mrs. Bud Truax, Mr. And Mrs. Shelton Grimsley, Mr. Mark Goza, Squire Morris, Mr. And Mrs. Mirt, and Mr. and ~~Mr. And~~ Mrs. Orbray.

John Jonathan Williams' children grew up to be an asset to him. The Williams' boys were very strong and tall individuals. Raising crops was not a problem with young men of that stature. John bought a peanut thrasher after the boll weevil closed down the cotton farming. Farmers changed to peanut farming as a livelihood. The Williams crew thrashed peanuts for miles in each direction. It was the custom of the women to provide a hardy meal for the thresher crew. It had to be a chore to cook that much food for one meal. The Williams' men became known for and wide and in turn they had the opportunity to know all of their neighbors.

Good times could not last forever. World War I came and one of the eight boys had to serve. Thomas Henry Williams was in Galveston training at one of the bases when he received word that his mother was very ill. By the time he had arrived home his mother had died. She died in her mid fifties from a stroke. Thomas Henry had fond memories of his mother. He recalled how she would rock her babies and shout her praises to her God. He left home again and shipped overseas to France. They were transporting him closer to the battle when word came that the war had ceased.

Soon the home that housed the large family was changing. The older sons and daughters were getting married and leaving home. With the mother gone and the two daughters married, those remaining, had to make a decision how they were going to keep the housework done. They tried hiring people but it did not seem to work. They finally chose one of the boys for the job.

John had now become quite elderly and only one son, Jake, remained at home. He cared for his father until his death.

The children of John and Rebecca chose different vocations. One went west and bought large farms and became quiet successful in farming. One was an ordained Baptist minister. Another moved to California. Several owned dairies, were farmers, and worked in town. The Williams family has left their influence in the New Hope and Hudson Cemetery community. The New Hope Baptist church was built upon land donated by them. Many of their offspring, instructed in this building, received a good foundation before they went out into the world.

The Hudson Cemetery has been a final resting place for several of the Williams family. Some are still living here where Leroy Guthrie Williams chose to make his home one hundred and thirty years ago.

Maxine Hill "Maxine" Murphy – June 1, 1906-March 30, 1975

William Murphy - William "Willie" Murphy's ancestry and presence in the Hudson Cemetery are something of a mystery. The 1900 census lists a Willie Murphy living in the home of Wesley T's widow, Mariah Jane Traylor Murphy with a status of nephew. One scenario might be that Willie was son of Wm. B. Murphy, the brother of Wesley T. who had previously migrated from Missouri to Parker County. Willie may have migrated to Mansfield from Parker County (county seat Weatherford) and moved in with his aunt for some unknown reason. This is strictly conjecture.

John Thomas was the son of William H. Thomas and Anjaline (Traylor) Thomas and raised by Wesley Thomas Murphy and Mariah Jain (Traylor) Murphy.

Wesley Thomas "Tom" and Mariah Jane Traylor Murphy - Tom Murphy, the progenitor of the Tarrant County Murphys, was born in Howard County, Missouri on August 24, 1832, the son of Jesse Washington Murphy and Mary Hines "Polly" Murphy. Tom's siblings included John W. who came to Texas in 1855, F. M. who remained in Missouri, Wm. B. (William Benton (?)) who migrated to Parker County (county seat Weatherford), Texas, and Walter L. (?) who remained in Missouri in Sedalia.

Tom migrated to Texas in 1855. He returned to Missouri in 1860, ultimately joining General Sterling Price's Missouri State Guard, later serving in the Nineteenth Texas Cavalry, Parson's Brigade. After the war he returned to Texas and married Mariah Jane Traylor (born in Pike County, Indiana on May 5, 1835) on September 13, 1865 in Tarrant County, Texas. Mariah Jane was the daughter of Washington (July 31, 1794-November 27, 1864) and Mariah Aiken Traylor (March 11, 1799-June 7, 1858). Her younger sister was Winney Stokes Traylor Hudson – the wife of John D. Hudson (see John D. Hudson Family) which made Tom the brother-in-law of John D. Hudson – a significant reason why the Murphys might have been allocated (and accepted) a plot in the Hudson Cemetery.

Tom and Mariah had three children:

Charles "Charlie" Lafayette Murphy

Nola Alice Murphy "Nola" Edgemon

Ida May Murphy "Ida" Elrod

Charles Lafayette "Charlie" and Susan Victoria Townsend "Susie" Murphy - Charlie married Susie on January 26, 1890. They were the parents of:

Wesley Harvey "Harvey" Murphy - Harvey died at age nine as a result of a domestic accident.

Infant Daughter Murphy - Charlie and Susie's only daughter was stillborn one month after the death of her older brother, Harvey. Grief over Harvey's death may have played a role in the tragedy.

Charles Bertram "Bert" Murphy - Bert never married. He died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.
